All plugin hooks in WordPress 3.3

Important! Some WordPress hooks get applied in multiple PHP files. If you are trying to figure out what a specific WordPress hook does, sort the table by "hook" and make sure you are looking in all the files where it occurs.

- To sort the table, click on a column title.
- Click a hook name to see details about the hook.
- Click a file name to see only hooks used in that file.

Important warning about variable hooks

Some hooks have variables in their names. For example, `pre_${taxonomy}_$field` and `admin_head-` both have variable names. In general, any hook that ends (or begins) with `-` or `_`, or contains a `$`, has a variable name. Since the syntax with which these variables are defined may change from version to version, this page may think that a hook is deprecated (or new) even if it is not. You can usually catch this sort of thing by comparing this hook to the list of "related hooks" below.
